Writes Postmaster J. C. WOODSON, Forest Hill, W. Va., "I had a bronchial trouble of such a persistent and stubborn character, that the doctor pronounced it incurable with ordinary medicines, and advised me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and one bottle cured me. For the last fifteen years, I have used this preparation with good effect whenever I take and I know of numbers of people who keep it in the house all the time, not considering it safe to be without it."

"I have been using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for 30 years, with the most satisfactory results, and can cheerfully recommend it as being especially adapted to all pulmonary complaints. I have, for many years, made pulmonary and other medicines a special study, and I have come to the conclusion that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral occupies a position pre-eminent over other medicines of the class."—Chas. ### REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

Brockway Township Leads and Many Others Follow.

Last Monday was Republican day, and the boys were out to win. Every candidate on the ticket was elected by majorities ranging from 26 to 117.

All of this was accomplished with very little excitement and entirely without contention or bad feeling on the part of any one.

It is gratifying to the Republicans of the township that they had placed an excellent ticket in the field and that no other township in the county piled up such large majorities.

Grant, Kimball, Ira, and Brockway townships, one ward in St. Clair and two wards in Marine City that had been returning democratic members of the board of supervisors, turned down the democrats and elected republicans.

The large democratic majority of the Board is thus wiped out, and while it is not certain that the Republicans have a majority sufficient to organize the board, it is certain that there are as many republican as democratic members and it is probable that there will be a republican majority of from 1 to 3.

Reports from Huron county show that there has been elected a republican board of supervisors for the first time in 10 years—and like reports are coming in from all over the State.

These are positive indications that the republicans of this and other counties are camping on the trail of democracy and are anxious to meet that party in other fields.

MY FAVORITE BOOKS.

I think, as in my mind I review the various books I have read, that, taking them all in all, I like the works of J. Fenimore Cooper and Edward Payson Roe better than any other prose works.

I could not undertake to describe wherein lies the charm of Cooper's works; they explain themselves better than any one else could explain them. Roe's works are, I think, about the best novels you could read, they are all of a high moral character and have a tendency to lift the mind of the reader above the mere story that he is telling to something higher and better. His works are nearly all based on some real circumstances, for instance his "Barrier's Burned Away" relating the story of the Chicago fire, and "The Earth Trembled," telling about the Charleston earthquake. Roe is a great "word picture painter." He brings the scene so plainly before you that you can almost imagine you are really a witness of what he is describing.

As to poetry, I think I love the works of Longfellow, Whittier and Carleton best of all.

How can one help loving a man that can paint a picture like Longfellow's "Hiawatha"? As one reads he is almost carried away by the perfect joy and content of the young husband and wife and again by their bitter, bitter anguish, speaking in every line. One's heart goes out in sympathy to the sufferers and again to the dead and to the remaining one who has added to his burden that feeling of utter desolation, utter loneliness. Now we follow them on their journey from the land of the Dakotas, while the birds and all nature seems to rejoice with the happy husband and again we follow him from the grave of his laughing water through the wood of all mourning pines to his lonely wigwag while he stands in the doorway bidding farewell to the wife of his choice and the joy of his life.

Whittier deals with the more common place subjects, but he takes them and dresses the thoughts into such beautiful language that we almost begin to believe that even the smallest things we do are glorious if we only do them with a glorious motive.

Will Carleton—the people's poet. How not only 1, but every one loves to read the writings of this man, and how they seem to express exactly our own ideas, only we could not get to language to tell them, and how close it brings us to him. Carleton writes considerably in a light, laughing strain, but not always. A man that can read his "Negro's Funeral" or "They're Going to Hang Me, Mother," without its bringing the tears to his eyes must of all men be the most hard-hearted.

I have tried to express why I read and like certain works and to show why, also, that it would benefit others to do likewise. LEAH DARCY.

A Commendable Action.

The new village council has made a move in compelling the liquor men to live within the law and should be commended and supported in this step in the right direction by every law-abiding citizen. The following notice was served by Deputy Sheriff Emery on every liquor dealer in Yale last Saturday evening:—"You are hereby notified to close your saloon or place of business within the Village of Yale, St. Clair county, Michigan, where liquor, beer, wine or other intoxicating drinks are sold, on the election day of April 24, 1894, and also upon the first day of the week commonly called Sunday, from and after this date, in accordance with the Statutes governing the same." Dated March 31st, 1894.

Geo. W. Waring, President.

C. R. Holden, Clerk of the Village of Yale.

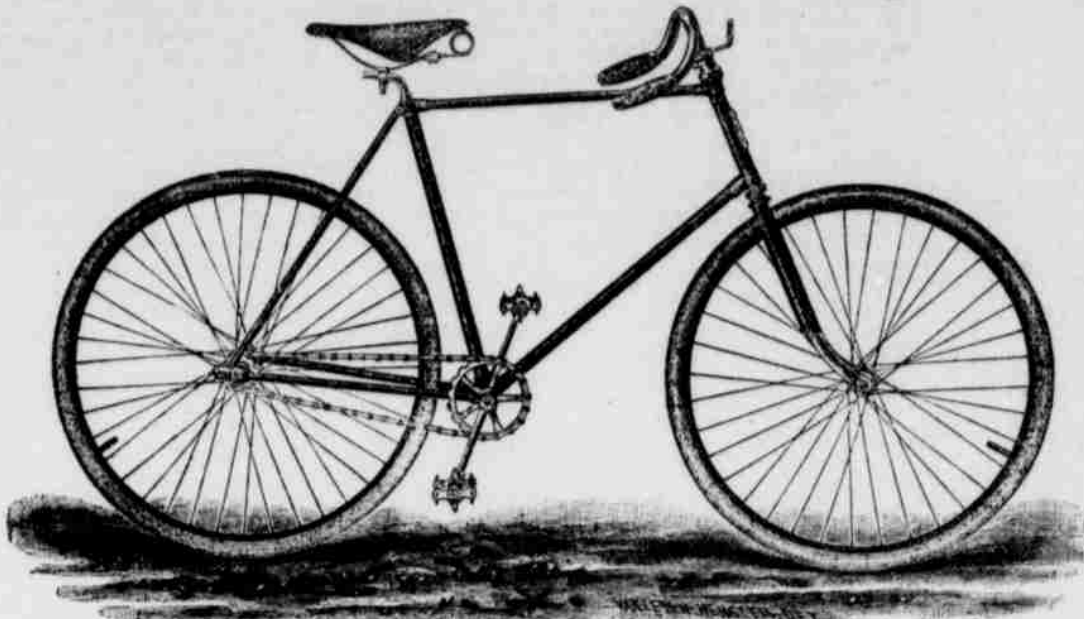

Waring & Cavanagh is the name of a new firm in town, Mr. Waring having taken a partner in his general merchandise business, conducted in the Lutz block, corner of Main and North streets. Both members of this firm have many friends and they no doubt will enjoy a large trade.

Nelson Kitley having rented his farm will offer for sale by public auction at the premises three miles east and half a mile north of Yale, on Thursday, April 12, 1894, farm stock, implements, wagons, buggies, household goods, etc. Sale to commence at one o'clock p. m. sharp. Frank W. Smith, auctioneer.

There has recently been placed in the postoffice a notice from the department at Washington, which calls attention to the public, that if their names were placed in the upper left hand corner of each letter before mailing, it would insure prompt return of the letter, provided it should be unclaimed, for instead of going to the Dead Letter office. This is good sound advice and should be heeded. The Expositor can furnish the envelopes printed nearly as cheap as you can buy plain ones elsewhere.

A combination auction sale will be held at the yards of Hotel de Martin in Yale on Saturday, commencing at 1 o'clock p. m. sharp, consisting of farm stock, implements, household goods, etc. The sale will be conducted by Frank W. Smith, auctioneer. The arrangements as to fees are that for selling a horse a fee of $1 will be charged, 50c. of which must be paid at time of making entry; for cattle, vehicles or harness 50c.; if sold, and entrance fee 25c.; for sheep and pigs 20c. if sold, and 10c. entrance fee. Entries will be received by Frank W. Smith or at the Hotel de Martin and must be made before April 14. No entry will be received unless accompanied by the requisite entrance fee.

Lines from Dakota.

I've reached the land of drought and heat,
Where nothing grows for man to eat.
The wind that blows with burning heat
All o'er these plains is hard to beat.

CHORUS.

Oh, Dakota land! Sweet, Dakota land,
As on the highest mound I stand,
I look away across the plains,
And wonder why it never rains;
But Gabriel calls with trumpet sound,
And says, the rain has passed around.
We have no wheat, we have no oats,
We have no corn to feed our shoats;
Our chickens are too poor to eat;
The pigs run squealing through the street.
Our horses are of Broncho race;
Starvation stares them in the face.
We do not live, we only stay,
And are too poor to get away.

Further information will be cheerfully furnished free of expense by addressing HARRY MENGER, Michigan Passenger Agent, 82 Griswold Street, Detroit, Michigan. 453
